

Common Core in Pieces

Showing Its True Colors

"New York state teachers union this weekend unanimously withdrew its support for the Common Core standards"

Politico January 26, 2014

"NYSUT...calls for an end to New York's participation in InBloom, a 'cloud-based' system that would collect and store sensitive data on New York's schoolchildren."

<http://www.nysut.org/news/2014/january/nysut-board-approves-no-confidence-resolution>

Comment to NY Governor's Panel to review the flawed rollout of the Common Core: No recommendation this panel can come up with will salvage the CCSS.

<http://dianeravitch.net/2014/02/19/jeff-nichols-governor-panel-on-core/>

Federal funding tied to standards

=

Federally Mandated Standards

Id.

OK Board of education argued legislature cannot determine public school curriculum and tests. Supreme Court says that is preposterous.

FoxNews.com July 15, 2014

Problem solving, performance events, matrix testing...all of these are supposed magic solutions to the NGSS assessment problem but have been proven bad with KIRIS 20 years ago! www.bipps.org/kentuckys-school-testing-science-going-time-warp/

South Carolina passed a bill that requires standards to be approved by joint resolution of the legislature.

<http://caffeinatedthoughts.com/2014/06/oklahoma-south-carolina-drop-common-core-state-standards/>

"I believe the current waiver process represents a major federal intrusion into the rights of each state to develop, implement, and manage the public education of the state."

Terry Holliday's blog, August 22, 2014

Gov. Bobby Jindal [LA] filed a lawsuit accusing the Obama administration of manipulating federal grant money and regulations to force states to adopt CCSS.

abc News, August 27, 2014

"Common Core is the latest effort by big government disciples to strip away state rights and put

Washington, D.C.,

in control of everything."

Bobby Jindal, abc News, August 27, 2014

"Nothing in ESEA gives the secretary of education the authority to push states around when it comes to their standards."

Fordham Institute President Michael Petrilli, Politico August 28, 2014

"It is outrageous that President Obama and Washington

bureaucrats

are trying to dictate how

Oklahoma schools

spend education dollars."

Oklahoma Gov. Mary Fallin said.

Politico August 28, 2014